need for such an organization to carry on such a work. He sought first to interest other veterans' organizations in carrying on the work, in promoting religion. But they feared to identify themselves with God at the time. Fortunately all that has changed and we have the American Legion and the VFW sponsoring 'Go to Church' programs, for they have come to realize that the veterans' organizations must take leadership in urging a return to God.

Loyal Americans'

The Catholic War Veterans are needed to help impress on our good non-Catholic neighbors that we are good loyal Americans and many of them joined us last week at Harrisburg when we celebrated Loyalty Day with services at St. Patrick's Cathedral. Our Loyalty Day services are one answer to the Communist May day, opposing love of God to atheism, and love of country to their subversion.

"The Catholic War Veterans are made up of ordinary people, who are busy establishing their homes and families, men ambitious only for their families, and for that reason one of its strongest programs is youth activities.

"As state chaplain I ask your prayers for the success of the Catholic War Veterans, that it might become a strong force for God, for home, for country."

County Priest Talks

Rev. Fr. Leo J. Krichten, pastor of St. Joseph's Catholic Church, Bonneaville, and chaplain of the St. Joseph's post of the CWV, urged the members and their wives to observe Mother's Day by attendance at Holy Communion Sunday. "As we whirl along on this busy, distracted, unfeeling road of life, we must take time out to tell our mothers we love them. It is sad that we must be reminded to do this, but it is better than forgetting our mothers entirely. It is best to have one day to honor the most important persons in the world, our mothers. We may not be able to give her expensive material gifts, but there is one gift of infinite value that we can give, we can attend mass and Holy Communion and offer them for our mothers' intentions. How happy you can make her. It will gladden her heart more than anything else, to know that you are faithful to that religion which she taught you as a child. What better proof can you give your mother that you are that boy or girl she wanted to raise?"

Rev. Fr. Edward Shanahan, pastor of St. Aloysius Catholic Church, Littlestown; Rev. Fr. Wallace E. Sawdy, assistant pastor of St. Francis Xavier Catholic Church here, and Paul Myers, commander of the Bonneaville CWV, post spoke briefly. Arthur J. Roth, toastmaster at the dinner, told the group: "Catholics have fought for America in all her wars. Washington, Lincoln and even Coolidge have commented on the fact that America's most loyal group has been the Catholics."

British Claim Altitude Record

LONDON (AP)—A British twin-jet Canberra bomber climbed to 63,668 feet, bettering the world aircraft altitude record by 4,222 feet, the Royal Aero Club announced today.

Records of the flight will be submitted to the Federation Aeronautique Internationale in Paris as a claim for a new world record.

The flight was made Monday from Filton Airfield, near Bristol, with W. F. Gibb, assistant chief test pilot of the Bristol Aeroplane Co., at the controls. The plane was fitted with Bristol Olympus engines.

The present record was set by Britain's John Cunningham on March 23, 1948, in a Campion jet fighter. He reached 59,446 feet.

To Roofing Company

Harry W. Bowers, Gettysburg R. D., in an answer filed today with the county prothonotary, to an action in assumpsit brought against him by Roy Coldsmith, Gettysburg, claims he does not owe a bill for work done to his chicken house roof because Coldsmith was merely "making good" previous faulty workmanship.

Coldsmith is seeking payment for work in connection with the placing of a roof on Bowers' combined chicken house and shed. In Bowers' answer, as filed by Attorney Daniel E. Teeter, Bowers claims that Coldsmith's workmen failed to nail down the asphalt roof when they placed it originally and that when wind blew part of the roof off the building March 24, 1951, Coldsmith came to the Bowers' farm and "on March 26, 1951, the plaintiff personally told the defendant at the site of the damage that he would repair and make right the previous defective work."

Early Histories And Booklets Reveal Extent Of Battlefield Development, 1890 To 1905

Union soldiers who fought at Gettysburg, if they were to return today, would find many changes on this field of strife since those hot summer days of 1863. And Confederate veterans, wherever they may lie in honored graves, were they, too, to return, would also find difficulty in recognizing the terrain over which they charged and fell back.

So also would those who visited the battlefield of Gettysburg in the years between 1863 and the decade before and just after the turn of the century, for it was in that period and a little more that a great resurgence of interest in this historic ground seems to have taken place and the greatest number of improvements made.

It was during this 15-year period between 1890 and 1905 that the work of replacing the old, rutted battlefield avenues with the new Telford, or water-bound stone highways made great progress. New avenues were opened and old ones extended according to government reports for these years. It was in this era that a majority of the markers designating Confederate positions were placed, regular troops of the U. S. Army recognized for their parts in the battle, bridges built, stone walls, which formed breastworks, re-laid and much re-foresting done.

Early Books Tell Story

N. A. Meligakis, proprietor of the Bookart, and a student of Gettysburg and the Civil War, has many valuable "first editions" of old guide books and histories of the battle, written when the great struggle was fresh in the minds of men who took part or saw the field soon after the battle. It is from these and from a large volume containing many photographs and the reports of government inspections between 1893 and 1904 that these statements were gleaned.

The report of Col. E. A. Garlington, inspector-general, War Department, made in November, 1904, shows that much of this work of improvement had been completed. The report for 1893 shows, similarly, that much was then just being started.

Many improvements have been made in the years from 1905 to 1953 but the big changes came in these earlier years, under Lt. Col. E. B. Cope, chief engineer and superintendent of the battlefield.

Roads Were Well Built

Lt. Col. John P. Nicholson was chairman of the Battlefield Commission and its other members were Major William M. Robbins and Major Charles A. Richardson. The battlefield and the National Cemetery were then under army supervision. It was before the Park Service had been transferred to the Interior Department.

Numerous photographs of battlefield avenues under construction show that they were built to last. Hugh boulders formed the base, chinked with clay and then covered with successive layers of fine stone and clay, and all wet down and rolled a dozen times or more.

The battlefield in 1904, according to Col. Garlington's report, had seven other regular employees besides Col. Cope, five of them guards, and 27 seasonal laborers, three carts with horse and driver and two teams with driver. The payroll for regular employees for a month was $645 and for the seasonal employees $1,367.92.

Between 1893 and 1904 20 miles of these Telford avenues were constructed at an average cost of $8,000 per mile. Other construction in those years included 13½ miles of locust post-gas pipe fencing; 12½ miles of rail fences; 13 miles of gutter paving; 4½ miles of stone walls rebuilt; 324 guns mounted; 462 tablets erected and 17,100 trees planted.

Access To Cavalry Field

It was during those years also that a battlefield avenue connecting the infantry field with the cavalry field just off the Bonneauville Rd. was contemplated and urged as almost a necessity. Says Col. Garlington's report:

DEMANDS END OF PIKE MONOPOLY

HARRISBURG (P) — A Republican leader charges that Democratic opposition to a sales tax could wreck Pennsylvania's school system are described as "distortions and reckless raving" by Maurice Spahn Jr., Democratic state chairman.

Spahn, in answering allegations tired at the Democrats by Sen. M. Harvey Taylor, Republican state chairman, stated:

"It was not the Democrats, but the Republicans under the leadership of former Gov. Duff who pyramidized one huge spending program on top of another and then lacked the courage to construct a sound tax structure to support it."

Called "Bad Grace"

"It comes with particularly bad grace for Taylor to charge Democrats with irresponsibility in passing appropriations and ducking taxes," Spahn said in a statement last night.

He said the GOP campaigned many times on the promise that "no new taxes are needed."

Taylor had charged earlier this week that Democrats are opposed to new taxes "even though the Democratic leadership knows our schools cannot operate without the aid they receive from the state."

"We Republicans have refused to turn our backs on the children of our state," Taylor said. "We have endorsed the enactment of a sales tax because we know the money is needed to keep our schools open even though any new taxes are politically unpopular."

THE FIRST BITE
For fishing, I'll say, if you like it at all.
There's no better fun from the springtime to fall.
And if in the winter, away from the snow,
To fish in the tropics you're able to go.
It's fun to catch groupers and bone fish and whales
And listen to tellers of marvelous tales.

Fine tackle with money can always be bought.
But once in a lifetime the first fish is caught.
Only once in a lifetime the fun can be had.
Of that first fishing trip with an uncle or dad.
And only for once life allows the delight
Of the tug at the line of the first fish to bite.

Man may live to be ninety, but never again.
Will fishing reward him as when he was ten.
He may go to strange places and guides may employ,
But the greatest of thrills he'll have had as a boy.
For he still will remember (as surely he ought)
That tug at his line of the first fish he caught.

THREE COMMIE MIGS DAMAGED BY SABRE JETS

SEOUL (AP)—U. S. Sabre jet pilots damaged three Communist MiGs in battles high over Northwest Korea today. It was the first time in eight days Red fighters ventured across the Yalu River from their Manchurian sanctuary.

There has been speculation that Red pilots were being put through an intensive loyalty check because of a U. N. command offer of $50,000 to Communist fliers delivering MiGs to the allies—with a $50,000 bonus for the first plane.

U. S. Seventh Division infantrymen smashed a Communist attack by possibly 300 men on Porkchop Hill in the biggest action in days along the stagnant ground front.

Half-Hearted Attack

The Eighth Army called the attack half-hearted and said the Reds pulled back to their own lines in the face of heavy Allied artillery and mortar fire.

The Navy, meanwhile, sent swarms of carrier-based fighter-bombers and a half-dozen warships led by the battleship New Jersey against key Communist port areas on Korea's east coast.

One Communist MiG was hit in a fight between 10 Sabres and 16 MiGs just south of the Yalu, the Fifth Air Force said. The other two were damaged in aerial battles involving an undisclosed number of Sabres and about 20 MiGs.

Damage claims were reported by Lt. John L. McKee of Ashland, Ky., Lt. Vian J. Ely of Oakland, Calif., and Lt. Fred L. Hughes of Akron, Ohio.

HOT BATH WITH EXOTIC SCENTS BALM TO WEARY

By VIVIAN BROWN
The Associated Press

There is nothing like a bath. None, nothing.

After a day in a stuffy old office, busy factory or in the kitchen, a hot bath is the way to shake off those little mortgages everybody seems to have on your time.

You can find privacy in the bathtub, which is more than you can say for the rest of the house. It is the one spot where Mom can relax when it seems the children have conspired against her. It is the perfect relaxer for the business girl who is keyed up because of an unexpected date. It is the spot to soak and soak and soak after a shopping spree. It has no equal as balm to the weary body.

Tin Can Barrage Follows Burglar

PINE BLUFF, Ark. (AP)—Police are still searching for the robber who fled a Pine Bluff grocery store, barded by canned goods.

The store cashier, Mrs. Jeff Lyon, said the young man shoved a gun across the counter and demanded the money from the cash register.

CALLS MINELLI GOOD RUNNER

CLEVELAND (P)—Johnny Bratton voiced high praise today for Livio Minelli, his latest fight victim. But it wasn't for Minelli's boxing skill.

"That fellow can really run backwards—faster than I can forwards," the No. 2 welterweight contender said after his unanimous decision last night. Bratton weighed 150½ to 152 for Minelli.

Referee Tony La Branche had it five rounds for Bratton, three for Minelli and two even. Judge Herb Williams scored it 62-2 and Judge John Saynek 72-1.

But most of Bratton's points were piled up on his harder punching and aggressiveness. Minelli, the ring-wise counter puncher, bicycled backwards most of the fight, but landed at least three punches to every one Bratton got through.

A crowd of 4,103 that paid $14,540 witnessed the bout in Cleveland Arena. The fight was neither televised nor broadcast.

In a preliminary bout Rocky Castellani, 162, Luzerne, Pa., knocked out Johnny Mack, 160, of Columbus, Ga., at 26 seconds of the first round of a scheduled 10-round.

MAJOR LEAGUES GO COMPLETELY UNDER LIGHTS

By BEN PHLEGAR
AP Sportswriter

Major league baseball, which has seen mighty little sunlight this spring, goes completely under the lights tonight for the first time this season.

First place in the National League will be at stake with the Philadelphia Phillies coming into Brooklyn's Ebbets Field for a three-game set with the second place Dodgers.

Milwaukee will attempt to play its third home game of the year—the Braves have been rained out of their new home four times in six tries—with the Chicago Cubs as guests. St. Louis will be at Cincinnati and Pittsburgh at New York.

Big Guns For Phils

The New York Yankees put their game and a half American League lead on the line in Boston after a two day layoff. The Cleveland Indians, the Yanks' nearest pursuers, invade St. Louis. The Philadelphia Athletics are at home to Washington and Detroit visits Chicago.

The Phillies, nursing a precious half game edge over the Dodgers, will fire their three biggest guns—Curt Simmons, Karl Drews and Robin Roberts. Cheerful Charlie Dressen of the Dodgers says he plans to counter with Billy Loes tonight. Preacher Roe tomorrow and possibly Joe Black on Sunday.

Scenes From "Carmen"

In Scene Four Miss Magdalene Page portrayed the flirting gypsy girl in George's Bizet's opera, "Carmen." She was sustained by George Greco as "Don Jose," Richard Butler as "Escamillo," Maria Doherty as "Micaela" and Christopher Huett as "Constable."

The synoptic highlights from the perfect opera, as "Carmen" is called, were: "What a Chatter," "Street Boys Chorus," "Habanera," "Tell My Mother," "Gypsy Song," "Seguidilla," "Toreador Song," "Aria," "Flower Song" and "Phantom."

The production staff included: Business manager, Gertrude Cawells; publicity chairman, Romaine Smith; art and settings, Sheila O'Friel; costume chairman, Jean Lloyd; make-up artists, Mary McNeill and Joan Paron; lighting, Marthe-Marie Nethot; staging advisor, Prof Donald J. Waters; stage manager, Jacqueline McCormack; assistants to Miss McCormack, Edward Miller, Robert Portner; properties, Dora Andrews; choreographer, Cele Gorman; recordings, Dr. Adolph M. Wasilsky; patron chairmen, Jean Topper and Christina Jordan; rehearsal pianists, Rev. Fr. David W. Shaum and Jacqueline McCormack.

Miss Thelma Redding, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clement Redding, Gettyburg R. 2, appeared in scenes from "Madama Butterfly" and "Carmen." Miss Redding will receive her Bachelor of Science degree from the college in June.

RACES

SAN BRUNO, Calif.—Willie Shoemaker rode five straight winners at Tanforan including the featured Solano Country Fair purse on Horsetrader Ed ($4.90).

ROME—Leean Bergelin of Sweden upset Vic Seixas, U.S. Davis Cup Captain, 64, 63, 1-6, 64, in the Rome International Tournament.

Last year Crandall played in Japan with the 40th Triple A team. Playing mostly against GI teams he hit .412.

Army baseball is a big step from the majors but every official in camp is happy over having Crandall back.

"Don't worry about that boy being away the last two years," says Manager Charley Grimm. "He's my catcher."

A PREACHER IN CHAINS

Acts 28:14-24; 30-31

Key Verse: We know that in everything God works for good with those who love him, who are called according to his purpose.

I believe that Paul at once, upon arriving in Rome, began to teach, preach and pray. He obtained the use of a house. The authorities assigned a soldier guard. The chains were inconvenient but his work went on. Crowds came to hear Paul. The news about this remarkable man spread.

Eventually plain and distinguished people came to hear him and some became converts. The story of Paul in chains is an impressive one. A glorious record of how an irrepressible preacher of Christ can turn seeming misfortune into good account.

Richard Lovelace was right;

"Stone walls do not a prison make, nor iron bars a cage." John Bunyan illustrated that truth by writing his immortal "Pilgrim's Progress" in jail. The record of human heroes of the faith is endless — men and women who appeared to have come to dead ends when just around the bend the road was continuous, and they could follow through with their noble purposes. Other than obstructions of stone and iron limit our freedom. Lack of robust health, blindness, endless rounds of monotonous duties, misfortunes of various kinds — all these and other conditions curb our efforts. But the spirit that pervaded Paul's soul will find a way through or around any obstacle. Difficult tasks are the more readily performed when we know that all the while "Standeth God within the shadows."

It is remarkable that in our days more preachers are imprisoned than perhaps in any other period. First the Nazis tried their hand at subduing pastors and other religious leaders. They failed. The Churches were the only large segment of the German population which could not be brought to conform with the Nazi line. Now it is Communism operating over a much wider area. Again the church, its leaders and members are assaulted. But the pattern was set during the second world war by heroic pastors and others which will serve well for the future. Bishop Berggrave of Norway declared he was ready to give his life for the faith he was asked to renounce. Pastor Hanns Lilje, now a bishop in the German Lutheran Church, was imprisoned five years by the Nazis and has written of his experiences in a compact book called "The Valley of the Shadows."

Uncounted others, known and unknown, have come through the trial by fire without yielding their faith in their Lord and God.

The spirit of Paul still lives and although Communism is making a ruthless effort to capture and control "the souls of men" it will not succeed. The reason? "We know that in everything God works for good with those who love him." (Based on the outlines prepared by the Division of Christian Education of the National Council of Churches of Christ in the U. S. A. and used by permission.)

Van Fleet Declares Chinese Can Be Beaten If "Sitdown" Policy Of U.S. Is Lifted

By DON WHITEHEAD
(For James Marlow)

WASHINGTON (AP)—Gen. James A. Van Fleet is another old soldier who isn't going to "fade away." Like Gen. Douglas MacArthur, he is in open revolt against the policy which has shaped the war effort in Korea for more than two years.

Van Fleet became an author this week in carrying forward an active campaign against the Korean war policy. He made it clear he isn't going to sit quietly in retirement.

Writing in Life Magazine, Van Fleet discloses he wanted to give up his command of the U. S. Eighth Army in Korea sooner than he did because: "I felt that I could not continue with honor to execute a policy I had ceased to believe in."

Those were words that might have been spoken by MacArthur after he was relieved of his Far Eastern commands in April, 1951, by former President Truman. MacArthur advocated a more aggressive policy in Korea and this led to his removal.

Called "Sitdown War"

Van Fleet's theme as an author is that the Eighth Army is held back only by a policy which in effect enforces what he has called a "sitdown war." He thinks Washington has overestimated the Chinese strength and victory can be achieved if the wraps are taken off.

He says: "We do not have to ask the Chinese Reds for any favors. All we have to do is start an all-out effort in Korea, and the Reds will soon come begging to us."

What Van Fleet says in effect is that the Eisenhower administration should reverse the whole present policy, should put no faith in the should blast the Reds with all-out military might.

"Throw Away Our Future"

He says: "In the present peace talks with the Chinese Reds, I am absolutely convinced, we run the risk of throwing away the future of our nation..."

"Why, when we can annihilate them if we want to, why, when Korea is so much more favorable a battleground for us than for them, are so many of us overeager for peace at any price?"

Van Fleet insists he had more than one opportunity to whip the Chinese.

"While I was in Korea," he writes, "opportunities presented themselves again and again where I was fully aware of my chance to beat the Reds once and for all and was restrained by high policy... The opportunity is still there today."

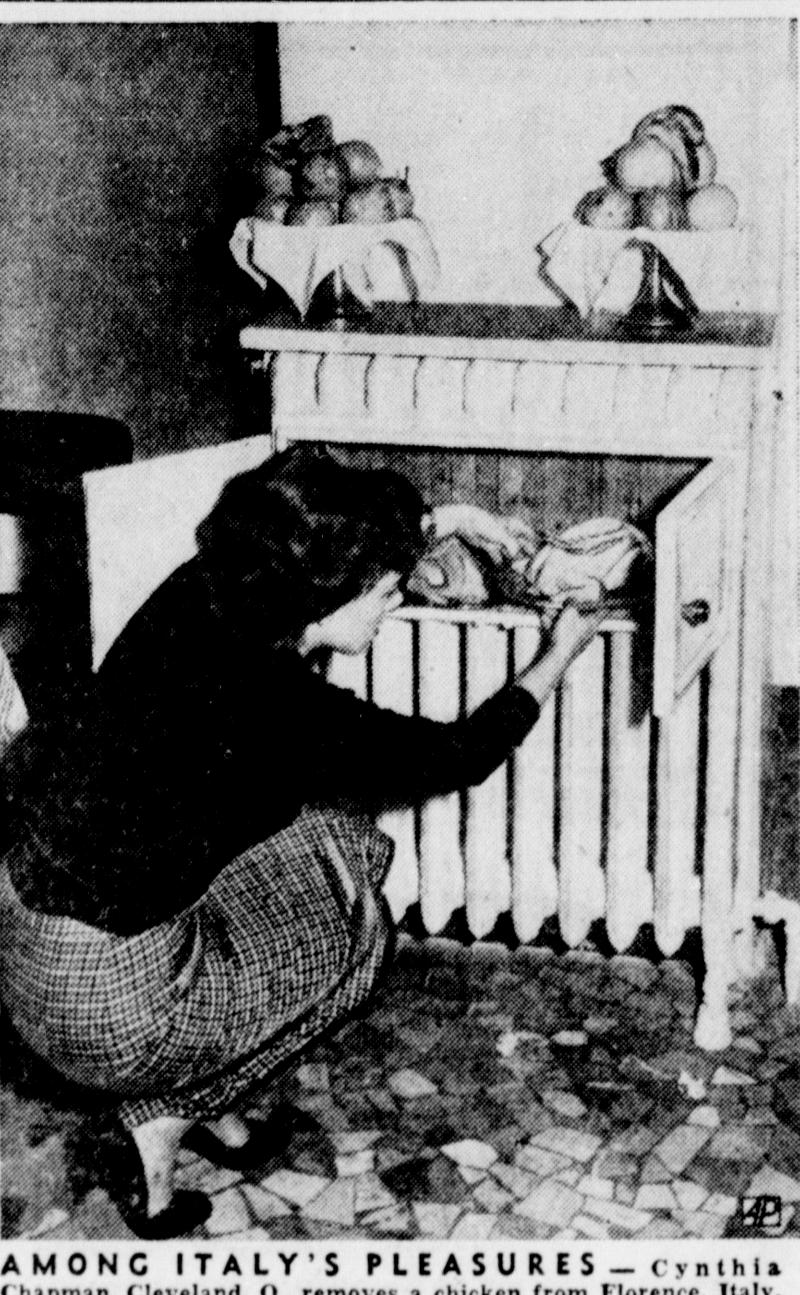

Frowns On Policy

It would appear from these writings that Van Fleet is drawing farther and farther away from the top command in the Pentagon. This move began when he touched off a Senate investigation by charging there was a serious and sometimes critical ammunition shortage during all the 22 months he was in Korea.

In fact, Van Fleet appears deliberately to be taking direct issue with Gen. Omar N. Bradley, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff. In opposing MacArthur proposals two years ago to strike at Red China's mainland, Bradley said the moves might touch off the wrong war in the wrong place at the wrong time. He has since reiterated that view.

But Van Fleet says if the U. S. is to have war with the Reds, then Korea is "the right war in the right place at the right time."

Actually, the Van Fleet argu-

Girl, 11, Killed In Three Car Crash

HARRISBURG (AP) — Sarah Koppenheffer, 11, of nearby Penbrook, was killed last night in a three-car crash that injured six others, one critically.

Police said the girl was a passenger in an auto driven by her father, Clifford, 43, that collided with a car driven by Samuel L. Mumma, 47, of Dauphin.

A third auto hit the wrecked cars.

In satisfactory condition in Harrisburg hospitals were: Mrs. Rebecca Koons, 60, Penbrook, a passenger in the Koppenheffer car; Koppenheffer; Mumma; Mrs. Koon's husband, Harry, 70; Mrs. Koppenheffer, 39, and her son, Andrew, 7.

MENTS ARE AN EXTENSION OF THE "GREAT DEBATE" TWO YEARS AGO OVER THE MACARTHUR PROPOSALS. HERE WE HAVE TWO REKNOWNED GENERALS IN REVENGE AGAINST THE KOREAN WAR POLICY THEY HAD BEEN CARRYING OUT. BOTH THINK THE WAR COULD BE WON BY MAKING WHAT THEY CALL THE RIGHT EFFORT. AND THEY BELIEVE IT IS WORTH THAT EFFORT.

ARE THE AMERICAN PEOPLE WILLING TO PAY A HIGHER PRICE IN KILLED AND WOUNDED TO ACHIEVE SUCH A VICTORY?

There is the real issue. Military victories simply are not won without a price in blood. And many military leaders don't think the people are willing at this time to pay that price for a victory which some think would risk a world war.

Should the truce talks fail, there may be no other alternative than to follow the Van Fleet-MacArthur line.

IDENTIFY 3 U. S. WOMEN DEAD IN SHIP COLLISION

HARWICH, England (AP) — Police announced today the identification of three American women and one German killed in the British steamer Duke of York during a North Sea collision Wednesday. Another American—an Air Force lieutenant—is missing and believed drowned.

The American victims were identified as Miss Gilda Jorette, 49, of Rocky Ford, Colo.; Miss Bernice Viola Larson, 49, of La Crosse, Wis., and Miss Ann Spring, 29, of Honolulu, Hawaii.

Miss Spring's body was identified by a fellow traveler, Richard Healey. She was a U. S. government employee in Germany.

A spokesman for the U. S. Third Air Force said the American missing and feared drowned is Lt. Dale Cheney of Kellogg, Idaho. He was traveling from Germany to Britain and was believed to have been on the Duke of York.

No trace of him has been found and British officials were making a final check today to find out if he boarded the ship in Holland.

The fourth body found in the wrecked section of the Duke of York was identified as Kurt Fromm, 22, a German from Oldenburg.

Five persons were known to have died in the collision of the 4,190-ton Duke of York and the 7,607-ton American freighter Haiti Victory. The fifth victim was an Englishwoman, Mrs. Margo Ansdel, who died in a hospital Wednesday.

One other passenger still was unaccounted for. British Railway officials were not certain, however, whether this might be a result of an error in either their list of passengers embarked on the voyage or their records of survivors brought ashore.

Some 500 passengers and crewmen of the Duke of York—including a number of Americans—were saved. Twelve persons were injured.

SEEK PACT AT HERSHY PLANT

HERSHEY, Pa. (AP)—Representatives of striking union workers and officials of the Hershey Chocolate Corp. met again today in what both sides say are friendly efforts to agree on a new contract.

However, as talks moved into the third day, neither side would say how close they are to putting an end to the 19-day-old strike.

M. Herbert Syme, the union's lawyer, described the negotiations as "a hopeful sign."

Gilbert Nurick, the company attorney, said "it is difficult for me to say" what the prospects are for a settlement.

The feeling was friendly both ways and the various issues were explored," Nurick told a newsman at the close of yesterday's talks.

"We discussed a number of issues," Syme said. "On some of them we achieved agreement. On some of them we decided to explore further. Some of them we set aside."

D. L. LAWRENCE IS TARGET OF 6 CANDIDATES

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Republican candidates for the mayoralty nomination in Pittsburgh are blasting Democratic Mayor David L. Lawrence instead of each other.

Lawrence, who is seeking his third term, has remained silent in the face of all attacks with the May 19 primary election less than two weeks away.

The Pittsburgh mayoralty contest is throwing off the most sparks in advance of balloting across the state which will nominate one State Superior Court Judge, and thousands of county, city, borough and township offices.

Lawrence, a national Democratic committeeman, is expected to have an easy time winning renomination. He is opposed only by Mario L. Bove, real estate man and a frequent public office seeker.

But among the Republicans, five would-be mayors are seeking the nomination. All are taking pot shots at Lawrence and his administration in hopes of winning the $20,000 a year post.

5 GOP Hopefuls
Among the GOP hopefuls is Leonard P. Kane, a brother of John M. Kane, Allegheny County treasurer. The other candidates are Joseph A. McArdle, insurance broker; real estate man Thomas McCaffrey Jr.; O. B. Hannon, state highway safety commissioner; and Peter Scapes, an inspector for Westinghouse Electric Corp.

2,000 WHEAT

Kane charges lack of a revised zoning law is driving the middle income group out of Pittsburgh into the suburbs. McArdle calls the current shortage of school tax funds a disgrace. McCaffrey blasts the prices charged by the new parking garages built by the city's Parking Garage Authority. Hannon and Scapes have waged more quiet campaigns.

In the midst of it all, Lawrence has said nothing except: "It wouldn't be ethical for me to comment on the Republican primary."

21 Elect Mayors

Scranton and 20 third class cities also are electing mayors this year. There is no primary contest in Scranton and in several smaller cities.

The main contests are slated for Bethlehem, Beaver Falls, Butler, McKeesport and Pottsville.

Republican Mayor George S. Heffner of Pottsville, seeking re-election, is opposed by Michael A. Close, operator of an auto drivers training school, and William A. Thompson, a veteran alderman.

The winner is almost certain of election since Pottsville is strongly Republican. In fact, no Democratic candidate for mayor has even entered the race. Although Heffner has the backing of the city's GOP committeemen and both Pottsville newspapers, Close and Thompson are waging spirited campaigns.

Each party has two mayoralty candidates in Bethlehem. On the Democratic side, Mayor Earl E. Schaffer, ex-city treasurer, is seeking re-election. He is opposed by Stephen E. Edraney, supervisor or a sportswear manufacturing company who has sought the job twice before.

Has Primary Fight

Republican candidates are Edward D. Warg, an alderman; and Mark A. Ford, a former constable. Warg is the GOP city chairman. Bethlehem has only 7,639 registered Republicans out of a total registration of 24,204.

A hot primary fight is likely in McKeesport where former Democrats are running as Republicans and vice versa.

Mayor Charles A. Kinkaid, the city GOP chairman, seeks re-election over the opposition of Harry Henry, a steelworker. In the Democratic race, City Councilman Andrew J. Jakomas, a former Republican, seeks the nomination against Thomas J. Heatherington, present Democratic city chairman and former legislator. Another switch in parties marks a heated race for council posts.

Mayor Edward C. Corcoran, a Democratic first termer, is unopposed for re-nomination in Beaver Falls. Two Republicans want to oppose him next November. They are Elmer E. Woods, a Babcock and Wilcox Tube plant employee; and Frank A. Taylor, who works for Westinghouse Electric Corp.

lead to a greater cut in the quotas, would work a hardship on every farmer, included those who might pad their figures, Walter said.

Walter emphasized that, while final decision has not been made as yet whether acreage allotments or marketing quotas will be used for the 1954 crops, the indicated wheat supply is such that production controls will probably have to be directed as provided by the present law.

As a result the information asked the farmer is absolutely necessary to do a "sound job of setting equitable acreage allotments for individual farms."

The compilation of the county's wheat crop must be completed by June 12, Walter said, because the U. S. Secretary of Agriculture must announce marketing quotas, if they are decided upon, by July 1 and acreage allotments, if they are decided upon, by July 15, and if quotas are proclaimed the national referendum among the growers must be held by July 25.

SIGNS ON WINDING SEOUL ROAD RECALL SCENES OF TRAGEDY, JOY

WESTERN FRONT, Korea (AP)—It is a winding road and well travelled. It has felt the boots of fighting men of many nations. It is the road that meanders north, the ancient invasion road to Seoul.

The Korean war has raged up and down it for 31 months and a trip along its dusty contour is a trip into nostalgia.

Tacked to its sagging telephone poles and shell-blasted trees are the identification signs of the many units which have passed this way. The sign painters, and some of the units, have gone from Korea but the faded signs remain.

Other units have left their marks on the rubbed buildings along the way. And one engineering company erected a sign board beside a small wooden bridge long ago. It reads: "Erected July, 1950; destroyed August, 1950; erected October, 1950; destroyed January 1951; erected March, 1951, Charlie company, 13th Engineers."

RECALL FANATIC RED

At a turn in the road is the spot where a very brave and quite fanatical Chinese soldier crouched in the weeds for hours without food or water and waited for a target that was worth his life.

Hundreds of soldiers and vehicles passed by until the Chinese selected a loaded ammunition truck and blew it, and himself, up.

Farther along is the jagged stone pile of mountains where the gallant soldiers of the 15th Regiment left so many comrades. The men scrambled almost straight up into the Chinese machine gun fire for three days before they reached the top.

MacArthur Watched

In the valley blew, Gen Douglas MacArthur stood and watched the action on the hill, so close that one soldier whispered to another: "I think the old boy wants to die in combat."

And there is the trail that leads to another hill. You stood there many months ago and interviewed a bright-faced young American and 15 minutes after he left you he was carried down the trail with a jagged hole torn in his head. His blood lay on a blood-soaked litter and he died quietly.

There is the blackened hulk of a burned out building once occupied by the irrepressible Wolfhounds, the fighting men of the great 27th Regiment. Their legendary leader, Col. (now Brig. Gen.) Mike Michaelis stood there and roared with laughter as his high spirited men blew up the brick chimney.

"Air Force Did It"

The Wolfhounds were letting off steam after many months in the line. When Michaelis asked his men who had blown up the chimney, a soldier called out: "The Air Force did it."

North Korean tanks rumbled down this road to start the Korean War. And Allied tanks chased them back. Chinese padded down it in such terrific numbers their shuffling feet raised dust clouds that stretched for miles.

One machine gunner sat on a hilltop overlooking the road and watched a column of Chinese four abreast trot past him for 17 minutes. He slipped away through the hills. An officer later asked him if he fired at the column. "Would you?" asked the gunner.

Many times the heart-breaking procession of Korean refugees gathered their new pitiful belongings and shuffled, head down, to the south to escape the Communist armies.

Wore "Sunday Best"

The last time they made the trip many were decked out in their colorful best Sunday clothes. They explained they wore the vivid silken garments because they had nothing else left.

Broken, twisted strands of telephone wire, the rotting remains of a freight train blasted from the tracks long ago, the carcass of a twisted tank tell their mute story of the strange struggle that has ranged up and down this road.

And there is the faded sign pointing to a vacant field where the now departed 24th Division established its command post many months ago. The code name of that unit, first in Korea, was "Danger." And the sign still reads: "Danger Forward."

Ike Says America Ready To Go Halfway For Peace

NEW YORK (AP)—President Eisenhower declared last night America stands always ready to meet "any one half-way" in winning a truly peaceful, moral world—but this peace must respect the rights of all men.

This means "everybody, not only our friends," he said.

For example, in Korea, he added, United States policy is dedicated to protecting rights of all people there, including those "only lately fighting in the ranks of our enemies, people that have become our prisoners."

Dulles Talks Too

The President, here on a four-hour visit during which he addressed two Republican dinners, said Korean prisoners are entitled to the "right of political asylum."

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, also addressing the $100-a-plate Republican affair, said the United Nations Command is "not prepared indefinitely to continue truce talks with the Communists in Korea."

"We earnestly desire and seek an honorable peace in Korea. But we shall not allow our enemies there to use peace talk as a stratagem for gaining military advantages in their war of aggression," he said.

Gross $350,000

Because of the size of the Republican gathering, it had to be split into two hotel ballrooms—1,200 at the Astor and 3,500 at the Waldorf-Astoria. The affair grossed the party $350,000.

In parallel talks to both groups, Eisenhower sketched the aims of government foreign policy, and said "it can not merely be a succession of reactions to someone else's actions."

He declared "no foreign policy really deserves the name if it merely reflects actions from some one else's initiative"—obviously an allusion to the fluctuations of Soviet policy.

WOMAN RECALLS CIVIL WAR DAYS

A former Perry County woman, now approaching her 102nd birthday in a rest home in Findlay, Ohio, remembers "when the Rebels were right over on the other side of the mountain," and the sun looked like a red ball during the three-day battle at Gettysburg.

She is Mrs. Mary Rose, who, according to an article in the Findlay Republican-Courier recently, recalled her early days in Pennsylvania and how "everyone was leaving our part of the country (during the Confederate Invasion) and folks were going up into the mountains driving their cattle before them and taking with them what possessions they could carry."

The newspaper story was forwarded to The Gettysburg Times by Mark Warren, editor of the Gadsden Times, Gadsden, Ala., who wrote that he has visited Gettysburg and the battlefield on several occasions.

Mrs. Rose was born and lived about 14 miles from Harrisburg.

liberal trade policy. Eisenhower said this country must have outlets for its surpluses, and other nations "must be capable of buying our goods."

But he added that imports cannot go entirely unregulated.

Eisenhower said he believes his administration is producing a government of "common sense."

Concerning taxes, he repeated his admonition that any reduction before the government is able to pay its bills "is likely to prove illusory."

U. S. SPENDING MORE THIS YEAR THAN LAST OF TRUMAN'S RULE

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Taft (R-Ohio) said today that unless present military and foreign aid plans are altered the Eisenhower administration may spend more in its first fiscal year than the Truman regime in its last.

Any such result could leave the Republicans on July 1, 1954—with the congressional campaign starting—showing a deficit of around five billion dollars instead of the balanced budget and lower taxes many of them promised in 1952.

Although Taft did not comment on this aspect, the Senate's majority leader said in an interview that on the basis of tentative military and foreign aid decisions spending will continue at a high level in the fiscal year beginning July 1.

May Quiz Humphrey

"It may be a little more than the current rate unless some economies are made that aren't certain now," the Ohio senator said.

Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey may be questioned on that score when he testifies before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee today at a closed session on the foreign aid program.

Former President Truman estimated that in the fiscal year ending with next month, the Treasury would pay out $74,600,000,000. The actual amount may be somewhat less.

To Cut Increases

If the Republicans continue this level—which many criticized in last year's campaign as wasteful and extravagant—the outgo would be five billion dollars more than the 70 billions of spending Taft previously said would enable the administration to come close to balancing the budget.

The Ohio senator remained firm in the belief that the new administration will eliminate almost all of the spending increases proposed by Truman when he estimated $78,600,000,000 in outgo for the coming fiscal year.

But yesterday's announcement by Secretary of Defense Wilson that deliveries of military goods to other free nations would climb from the present level of $3,800,000,000 to five billion dollars in the next year gave Taft and other economy advocates little comfort.

You are invited to take an important part in the great New Packard Program

Here is an unusual opportunity to see for yourself the fine new cars that make the New Packard Program the news story of this automotive year. 25 beautiful new cars will be awarded, including a glamorous Packard Caribbean. We hope you will join us. Please read on—

LAST December the people of this country gave a typical, enthusiastic, American welcome to the announcement that Packard was returning to the fine-car field. Once again America had a new choice in fine cars!

At the same time, the Packard CLIPPER was announced as the only medium-priced car in America built in the fine-car tradition. The big type of car that Americans like, priced just a few hundred dollars more than the low-priced lines.

These announcements were the first step in the revitalized Packard Program! Now you are invited to participate in step number two with 12 new Packards and 12 new Packard

CLIPPERS to be awarded those who follow the simple rules for participating in Packard Invitation Month.

May 9th to June 9th is the time. Just visit your dealer then. See the new Packard or CLIPPER and, on an official participation form (which your dealer will provide), write 25 words or less about the feature that impresses you most. Tell us what we should say about that feature in future advertising.

Send in as many suggestions as you wish. Just be sure each one is written on an official participation form and is in the mail before midnight on June 9th, 1953. See your Packard dealer soon.

Allied Truce Negotiations Await Instructions From Washington

PANMUNJOM (P) — Allied truce negotiators today awaited instructions from Washington on how to answer the Communists' latest Korean armistice proposal—an eight-point plan aimed at breaking the prisoner exchange deadlock.

The Reds unveiled their offer unexpectedly yesterday and it went right to the top for decision.

The plan would set up a five-nation commission to take custody in Korea of 48,500 Red prisoners who refuse to return to communism.

With negotiations here in recess until 11 a.m. Saturday (9 p.m. EST Friday), President Eisenhower discussed the offer with his top state and military advisers in Washington.

MINTS Counter Offer

They reportedly decided some provisions are unacceptable, but that the plan merits a counteroffer even though the Communists indicated they consider it a package deal all or nothing.

One big question is the possibility of a hidden gimmick permitting the Reds to get back the 48,500 prisoners who say they won't return to communism. The Allies also have insisted that no one would be repatriated against his will.

Key Points

Key points of the new Red plan include:

- Acceptance of Allied demands that prisoners unwilling to return be left in Korea after an armistice, rather than transported to a neutral country.

- Creation of a five-country "Neutral Nation Repatriation Commission" of India, Poland, Czechoslovakia, Switzerland and Sweden, to take custody of those prisoners after an armistice.

- Each of the five nations would send equal numbers of troops to Korea to control the prisoners.

Swing Objections

Eisenhower and his advisers reportedly object most strongly to this point, which would permit the Communist troops of Russian satellites Poland and Czechoslovakia to watch over the prisoners, many of whom are violently anti-Communist.

4. After four months of Red "explanations" to the unwilling prisoners, leaving the fate of any who still refuse repatriation to a post-armistice, high-level political conference.

The President and his advisers also were reported opposed to this, on grounds that the prisoners might be held an unreasonable time if the problem is not settled quickly.

Await Word From Clark

Eisenhower also was reported to be awaiting advice from Gen. Mark Clark, U. N. Far East commander, before instructing the delegates at Panmunjom.

Rep. Dewey Short (R-Mo.), chairman of the House Armed Services Committee, said the Red proposals contain a Trojan horse: "I don't think India is neutral."

BE PREPARED

CALGARY (P) — Baby-sitters are being taught how to be heroines. The fire department plans special courses to teach them what to do in case of fire, with special emphasis on how to get young children out of burning homes.

Other legislators expressed similar opinions. Some said they felt India was neutral but disagreed with nomination of Poland and Czechoslovakia.

PRESQUE ISLE PK. IS BATTING VS. NATURE, TIME

ERIE, Pa. (AP)—Erie residents are fighting a last-ditch battle against nature and time today to save Presque Isle State Park from ruin.

For centuries, raging winds and battering Lake Erie waves have eaten away at the peninsula on which the park — Northwestern Pennsylvania's summer playground—is located.

What remains of the peninsula begins at one end of the city limits and curls around to the other end. Only a narrow strip of land at the western tip, just wide enough to permit a highway to run through, prevents the peninsula from being isolated from the mainland.

Nature Hammers Away

But nature is continually hammering away at this narrow strip. When storms hit the lake, the highway frequently is flooded. At the same time, erosion is ruining the park's famous beaches, causing them to recede.

Recently, Dr. Felix S. Shubert, city health director, sounded a warning of another impending menace. He said a breakthrough at the narrow neck would cause a serious health problem.

Dr. Shubert pointed out that a breakthrough would put a swamp area at the west end of the bay within one mile of intakes for city drinking water which are in Lake Erie. The swamp area, he said, is loaded with dangerous bacteria.

City Aroused

These warnings have aroused the city to action. The Chamber of Commerce recently began a Save our Peninsula Campaign to get at least one dollar from each of the area's 140,000 persons. But even if this campaign reaches its goal, it will be far short of the $5,300,000 U. S. engineers estimate it will take to bolster the peninsula.

Since the park is state owned, the city has tried to get the legislature to appropriate funds. A bill to spend $2,600,000 is before the Assembly with Gov. John S. Fine's

Gettysburg Times - Littlestown Cooking School Will Give $219 Electric Range As Door Prize

Littlestown's sixth annual Gettysburg Times Cooking School will be held May 11 and 12 in the auditorium of St. Aloysius School, with Miss Madeline Linehan, talented and well-known home economist, of Ipswich, Mass., as lecturer and demonstrator.

Littlestown and vicinity women first became acquainted with Miss Linehan during the 1952 cooking school in Littlestown, and she is returning for the 1953 sessions because she proved one of the most popular and interesting home economics lecturers ever presented by The Gettysburg Times.

She will be assisted by Miss Ann Gregory, also of Ipswich, and Miss Beverly Morgan, York, and Mrs. M. Elizabeth Wible, Gettysburg, home economist of the Metropolitan Edison Co.

The cooking school will be all-electric, featuring all-electric ranges and appliances in the preparation of the menus each of the two nights.

Many Awards Planned

The Metropolitan-Edison Co. and 23 other manufacturers, distributors and food merchants are cooperating with The Gettysburg Times in the presentation of a new, modern, streamlined school.

Twenty-five baskets of food and products for the home will be given away each of the two nights, as well as all the food items prepared by Miss Linehan during the two-hour sessions.

The grand prize of the show, a $219.75 1953 model Frigidaire electric range, will be given away on the

ESCORT PIER BOSS TO WORK

HOBOKEN, N. J. (AP) — Michael McNamara was escorted by police to his new job as hiring boss of Pier 3 Thursday and he took over in place of slain longshoreman Francis Kelly.

McNamara has been released in $5,000 bail as a material witness in the slaying of Kelly, who was shot to death on a Hoboken street the night before he was to have started duties as union hiring boss on the pier.

Four gangs of 92 longshoremen were selected for unloading jobs by McNamara, who was named hiring boss Wednesday by officials of the Jarka Stevedoring Co., the Port of New York Authority and Local 867 of the International Longshoremen's Association (AFL).

Police announced they will continue to escort McNamara to and from his home, but that they would not necessarily keep the pier under surveillance during working hours.

At first it had been planned to operate without any hiring boss at all to replace Kelly but officials finally settled on McNamara.

ACCUSE FATHER OF BLAME FOR GIRL'S DEATH

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Russell Tongay, bronzed swimming instructor who once was accused of charges that he mistreated his swim-star daughter, Kathy, today was accused of causing her death.

Det. Charles A. Sapp of the Miami Homicide Bureau said an autopsy report showed that the flaxen-haired five-year-old child died Wednesday of a ruptured intestine caused by a blow.

A warrant charging the husky, 36-year-old ex-Coast Guardsman with second degree murder was issued Thursday night, minutes after Tongay won release from City Jail on a writ of habeas corpus.

Swam Before She Walked

Tongay had been arrested and ordered "held for investigation of murder" two hours earlier after lengthy grilling by Sapp and other officers. Tongay made no admissions during the interrogation. Sapp said.

It was in 1949 that Tongay was tried and acquitted of charges that he had mistreated Kathy. The child swimmer would have been six years old on May 22.

Dade County Circuit Judge Marshall C. Wisehart ordered Tongay released in custody of his attorney.

by a head injury, caused the child's death.

Mrs. Tongay said the baby had fallen down some steps in their apartment. No charges were filed.

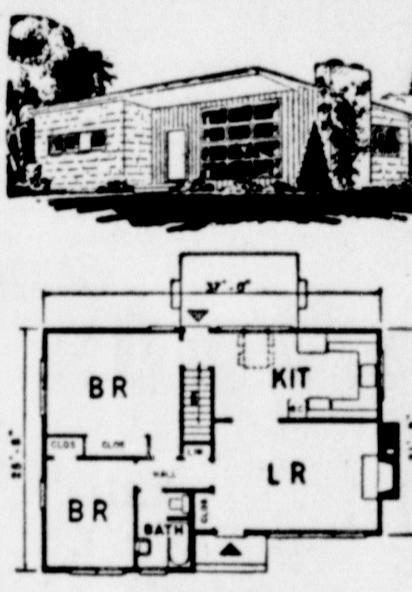

In the past five years, the amount of feed needed to produce a three-pound broiler has been reduced from 10½ pounds to about 9 pounds.

GROWING SORGHUMS FOR FEED

There is a widespread idea that the growing of grain sorghums for livestock feed is confined mainly to the semi-arid regions of the Southwest and less humid sections of the Plain states. But this is not true. One of the major reasons why this crop is grown more extensively in the regions where they are now most popular is because they withstand considerable drought and not because they demand dry weather. In fact, numerous farmers as far north as southern New England are increasing their grain sorghum acreages year after year.

Sorghums are divided into four main classifications: (1) The grain varieties, such as kafir, milo, feterita and others; (2) The so-called sorgos or sweet varieties for making molasses; (3) Broomcorn; and (4) Grass sorghums, including Sudan grass and perhaps Johnson grass.

Many botanists do not consider Johnson grass as a sorghum. Of course, Sudan grass is a hardy annual in this part of the country and closely resembles Johnson grass except that it does not spread as a perennial by its underground parts.

Either grain or sweet sorghums may be grown in this latitude for feeding purposes. The grain types make a higher grade of silage than sweet kinds, but animals relish the latter more and consume a greater proportion of the residue when the crop is fed as stover (fodder). This, no doubt, results from its higher sugar content.

Because sorghums must be held until the grain is passed the dough stage, much of the grain in silage is not digested by livestock. Therefore, many experienced farmers harvest the grain heads first, utilize the stover for silage, and then grind the grain and feed it as supplemental rations, perhaps adding cottonseed meal, soybeans or other protein concentrate.

If sweet sorghums are grown and fed as stover, grinding or chopping the fodder results in cleaner mangers because animals relish the sugar-rich stalks.

Seed heads make excellent supplemental feed for poultry, hogs, sheep, beef cattle, and dairy cows.

Sorghums thrive on a wide range of soil types with heaviest yields from sandy, well drained loams.

100 pounds of mash.

Experience shows that feather-picking, toe-picking, and the actual eating of flesh among chicks are greatly aggravated by crowding. But at the same time idleness and lack of adequate animal matter in their feed may conceivably lie at the root of the trouble. On the basis of what is definitely known about these habits, emphasis should be placed on three main prevention measures:

- Provide plenty of brooder house space for chicks.

- Promote industry among them by placing woven wire containers of grass, clover or alfalfa clippings, lettuce or other green vegetation along the walls so chicks must jump slightly to reach the tasty feed.

- Be certain the mash contains bone meal, meat scrap, fishmeal, or other animal matter to satisfy the chick's natural appetite for animal proteins and fats.

At the first signs of cannibalism, especially when chicks gain their first taste of blood from their victim, increase the salt content of the feed. If an all-mash ration is fed, add one-half pound of salt or slightly more to 100 pounds of feed. If a regular mash is fed (with grain fed separately), add one to one and one-fifth pound of salt per 100 pounds of mash.

About the use of salt to check cannibalism of chicks, two very important facts must be remembered. First, increased salt must never be used as a prevention measure because such a prolonged increased proportion of salt will prove harmful. Second, if the additional salt does not check the trouble in three days, cease it by returning chicks to their regular ration and turn to other methods of solving the problem.

Among emergency measures in case the salt treatment fails are:

- Trim off a small portion of the upper mandible of the chick's beak;
- Darken the brooder house for a few days;
- Paint the lower three feet of the walls a deep blue.

The beak operation is painless if properly done. Darkening the room apparently lessens the temptation of sight by which chicks see the blood and flesh of wounds already caused.

Wounded chicks should be removed from the flock as soon as wounds are noticed. Such victims, if they remain among the rest of the flock, serve but to invite more severe attacks. Too, the wounded chick may usually be returned to health in a few days.

OBSERVERS SPLIT ON AID

WASHINGTON (P)—Teams of businessmen who toured 14 countries are in disagreement over how the U. S. should administer its foreign aid program.

Teams which visited Britain, Germany and Italy recommended that the State Department be given full control and that the Mutual green vegetation is worthwhile even where cannibalism is not expected.

Early removal of male birds from the flock, as soon as sex can be determined, is a wise step in flock management. Not only may the males be placed on special rations to hasten development for sale as fryers, but their absence from the flock induces a greater spirit of peace.

Security Agency (MSA) be abolished.

Four other teams urged instead that MSA continue in operation with minor housekeeping changes. These teams visited Greece, Belgium-Netherlands, Formosa, The Philippines, and the three Indo-china states.

In between these two views were the conclusions of the teams which went to France, Turkey and Denmark. They recommended that MSA continue as a separate agency but with its personnel integrated with the American embassy staffs abroad.

This was learned as MSA director Harold E. Stassen arranged a news conference to make public the separate conclusions of the businessmen who made the survey.

MUST PAY UNDERTAKER

DUBOIS, Pa. (P)—The driver of a car which killed a man was ordered today to pay an undertaker $600 because the dead man had no relatives to pay burial costs.

A Clearfield County jury awarded the money to undertaker James H. Hunter, who charged Richard L. Floravanti with negligigence when his car killed William D. Spencer last December.
